Daniel Tiger's Neighborhood has been a smash hit with young viewers and their families since its Labor Day 2012 launch on PBS KIDS. Over the past six months, the series has consistently been among the top 10 programs across all networks for kids ages 2-5 and moms (ladies of the household) 18-49 with children under age 3, according to Nielsen Npower national program ratings.*

Inspired by the iconic, award-winning Mister Rogers' Neighborhood, PBS' longest-running children's series, Daniel Tiger's Neighborhood stars 4-year-old Daniel Tiger, son of the original program's Daniel Striped Tiger, who invites pre-schoolers into the colorful Neighborhood of Make-Believe. As they closely follow and share Daniel's everyday adventures, viewers learn fun and practical strategies and skills necessary for growing and learning. The theme of each episode is reinforced by simple and catchy musical strategies that preschoolers and parents keep on singing and using in their daily lives.

Daniel Tiger's Neighborhood has recently been recognized with a 2013 Kidscreen Award for "Best Animated Series" and a 2013 Silver Honor Award in the Television category from the Parents' Choice Foundation.

The popular animated series was created by some of today's top innovators of quality children's media. Series creator Angela C.
